DEMONSTRATION – Anthony Harris Thread Chasing

Anthony is a professional Woodturner from the Kansas City area. He demonstrated turning a small box with a threaded lid. He showed how to cut the outer threads and leave a relief to allow the lid to properly seat. He covered very small cuts on the lid mating surface to allow the woodgrain to align. While chasing the inside threads he also demonstrated the use of a handheld toolrest to aid in positioning and moving the thread cutter.

Anthony also covered cuts with the gouge and scraper to hollow and shape the box. He recommended very light cuts with the scraper to remove the center nib. He also turned a decorative candle.
