As the new year has arrived the Northland Woodturners will be looking for new and creative ways to turn raw wood into all kinds of wood turnings, some simple and some "over the top"!

Give serious consideration to how you will accomplish what you have in raw materials, tools and skills to produce your creative results.

There are some changes, all for the good, that will be incorporated into Turn North; Stay tuned.

The December 2025 meeting of Northland Woodturners saw a great food court and lots of fellowship for those who attended. A full menu that included Ribs, Brisket, salads, veggies, breads and desserts along with fresh, hot coffee, sodas and water.

After eating all one could hold (and then some), the Ornament Contest was shared; (Pictures to follow).

A lively turning challenge included several participants with some creative results. The judging was done by Danny Smith's wife who had not seen the performances. The original was brought by Club President David Bartlett.

So, without further adieu, see the results.

Meal Time

The Brisket was actually corned Beef Brisket with Sauerkraut and Thousand Island Dressing along with Pumpernickel bread and a Panini grill to make Reubens with.

Ornament Contest

At the top were the entries along with the one at the lower left. At the lower right are the winners from left to right.

First Place went to Andy Brundage with a 5 tier Christmas tree turned from five cubes held diagonally. They were then stained and finished with Lacquer.

Second Place, the middle one, was done by Mikeal Jones. It is hollow inside and made in the same way of his other segmented turnings only smaller. It also is finished with Lacquer.

Third Place, the one on the right in the picture, was done by Steve Dougherty. It too is hollow and segmented but in a different way. All three bases for display were made by the respective makers listed. The supports on second and third place entries were made from clothes hangers bent around a paint can to make the large curve shape.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

Always a season favorite, the Turning Challenge was accepted by multiple members. Shown below are some of the pictures of the participants and the results of their effort.

This was the pattern, brought by President David Bartlett, to be duplicated in the Turning Challenge by those who took part. The base was about 2" in diameter with a decorative cove base. The candle body was about 4" tall with a simulated "flame".

The first two challengers were Steve Dougherty on the left above and Mikeal Jones on the right. Three minutes were allowed to duplicate the pattern shown at the end of Mikeal's lathe bed.

This is Chip's result after 3 minutes.

This is Danny's result after 3 minutes.

The next two competitors were Dale Andrews and President David Bartlett. Each also started with a 2" square blank that was about 7" long, mounted in a "One-Way" chuck and using a live tailstock.
